Bug case jury calls ex-aides

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's deposed top two White House lieutenants, H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, will appear Thursday before a federal grand jury investigating the Watergate scandal, it was learned today.

As news disclosures were published suggesting that the two were leaders in a high-level effort to cover up the scope of the Watergate burglary and bugging, Haldeman and Ehrlichman also arranged to meet later in the week with Senate investigators.

Both Haldeman and Ehrlichman have denied any wrongdoing and have said they are sure investigations will clear them. Nixon said in announcing their resignations Monday that their departure should not be taken as any suggestion of wrongdoing.

The New York Times quoted unnamed government investigators today that Haldeman and Ehrlichman, together with former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, devised a plan shortly after the June 17, 1972, bugging to cover up the details.

The Times said Haldeman, Mitchell, Ehrlichman, former White House counsel John Dean III, and two others faced grand jury indictment.

The Times quoted one investigator as saying, "Haldeman and Ehrlichman were running the cover-up. We don't know whether Nixon to this day knows what really happened. He really thinks they're all clean."

Dean has been reported as trying to seek a grant of immunity from prosecution before testifying before the grand jury. He has talked with prosecutors, however, and allegedly has implicated Haldeman and Ehrlichman.

The Times quoted an investigator with respect to Dean's role: "I don't think Dean had prior knowledge of the bugging. He agreed to go along with the cover-up. Once he found out how many people would be hurt, he was convinced that the scandal would damage the country."

The investigator was quoted that after talking with Haldeman and Ehrlichman, Dean "went into the bag and falsified his report to the President" on Dean's own investigation for Nixon of the bugging.

Budget hearing well-attended

TF school budget set; no tot class

By LOREYNE SMITH
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls school trustees Tuesday night unanimously approved a $9.5 million budget, but rejected new plans for a kindergarten program.

The budget, about one-sixth higher than last year's, was approved following long discussion at the public hearing attended by 18 persons.

Three separate requests for a kindergarten program were presented at the hearing.

But Board Chairman John Wolfe said the question was not whether the trustees supported kindergartens.

"We are for the best education we can afford," he said. Trustees Ruth Day and Dr. Howard Romk separately repeated their view that kindergartens are not financially possible this year.

The priorities as reflected on the budget are raising salaries of all employees and taking over most of the programs previously funded by federal Title I funds that the trustees say will be defunded this year.

Phyllis Culver, representing the American Association of University Women, read a statement thanking the school board for its time and effort on studying the possibility of kindergartens. She said the AAUW favors "high quality" kindergartens as part of the public schools.

Carol Heccegria, chairman of the Head Start Parents Council, read a statement from her group urging the board to consider public school kindergartens which, she said, could complement the Head Start program.

She listed figures of 4 and 5 year olds the Head Start screening committee has to turn away because they are ineligible for the federally funded program.

Marge Slotten, representing the League of Women Voters of Idaho, urged the board to consider use of any extra Title I funds for kindergarten.

Assistant Supl. Camden Meyer said the board has an obligation to continue the programs, which probably will not be funded again, such as remedial reading and teacher and library aides.

Meyer said Title I funds can no longer be used for general programs, such as for library aides who would benefit all students, but must be channeled to programs for disadvantaged or handicapped children.

He said it is expected there will be federal money to continue the summer migrant program which is estimated to cost about $40,000.

The cost of absorbing the remedial reading and library and teacher aide programs is estimated at $60,000, Meyer said. Last year $130,000 was budgeted under Title I; nothing was budgeted this year.

Mrs. Slotten then urged the board to consider the possibility of asking voter approval of a levy to pay for kindergartens, citing Wendell where voters approved a 2.15 mill levy Tuesday for this purpose.

Meyer also said that during recent teacher negotiations when a request for expanded insurance benefits was turned down, teachers were told the board "would take a second look" at this proposal, should more money become available.

He estimated 4½ mills would be necessary to finance kindergartens in the Twin Falls schools.

Rep. Ralph Olmstead, R-Twin Falls, spoke briefly during the discussion, listing reasons the legislature did not support state-funded kindergartens.

"This was the year of the taxpayer," he said, noting many legislators were elected on the premise that voters would receive tax relief. Solons, he said, also felt there is no way kindergarten would be available to everyone, but "everyone would have to pay for it." If a state-funded program was approved, he said, citing the sparsely populated areas of the state.

Gordon Armstrong, chairman of the teacher negotiating team, thanked the board and administration for "meeting its responsibilities to taxpayers as well as teachers."

today in brief

New Viet talks approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger said today North Vietnam had agreed to a meeting between himself and Hanoi's chief negotiator Le Duc Tho to discuss the crumbling cease-fire. He conceded there has been no agreement on a date for the talks.

At a White House briefing, Kissinger said the agreement on talks had been reached in diplomatic messages between Washington and Hanoi.

Connally makes big switch

HOUSTON (UPI) — John B. Connally, 56, the conservative former Texas governor and Treasury Secretary and a lifelong Democrat, today switched to the Republican party "to help it meet the needs and aspirations of all Americans."

Connally, who resigned a year ago after 18 months as the only Democrat in Nixon's cabinet, did not say he would run for President to succeed Nixon in 1976.

Lebanese guerrillas clash

BEIRUT (UPI) — Lebanese troops clashed with Palestinian guerrillas in the suburbs of Beirut today when the troops took action to liberate two soldiers kidnapped by armed men. The clash of explosions and the rattle of machineguns sounded throughout the city.

First reports said 8 soldiers were killed and 35 wounded. At least seven civilians suffered gunshot wounds.

Dakota talks blacked out

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Federal negotiator Richard Hollister has announced a blackout of all news pertaining to negotiating sessions in the 61-day-old impasse at Wounded Knee. He declined to answer newsmen's questions concerning the reason for it.

Negotiations have stalled for two days because of a dispute over burial of the body of Frank Clearwater, 47, an AIM militant fatally wounded two weeks ago.

'Family' member suit out

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A Superior Court judge Tuesday threw out a $2-million malpractice suit by Manson Family killer Susan Atkins against her former attorney, Richard Caballero.

Miss Atkins sued Lawyers Caballero and Paul Caruso, and former Deputy District Attorney Vincent Bugliosi. Another judge dismissed the suit against Bugliosi, and Caruso was never served with papers in the case.

Byrd asks FBI chief choice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., urged President Nixon today to appoint a permanent FBI director immediately.

Byrd said such action should be taken before damage to the bureau in the year since Director J. Edgar Hoover died "becomes irreparable, irredeemable, and irreversible."

Watergate dry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Apartment dwellers in one section of the Watergate complex — which gained notoriety by the political bugging case — were bugged by something else Tuesday: lack of water.

Tenants in the plush Watergate South building were without water for nine hours while workmen repaired a break in a water main.

Wendell votes tot class levy

WENDELL — More than 70 per cent of Wendell school patrons voted to approve a $10,500 special mill levy to pay for kindergartens next year.

The vote count showed 210 yes votes and 87 no votes on the 2.15 mill levy.

The special levy election was the result of a petition prepared by 40 Wendell parents requesting that the school district finance a kindergarten program.

At a school board meeting April 9, William Cooper, representing the parents requested the levy.

Wendell has had a kindergarten program for the past two years supported by federal funds. Government funds expire this spring, making the special maintenance and operation levy necessary in order to continue the program, school officials said.

The kindergarten teacher will be Betty Heckert, who taught under the federal program. Classes will begin this fall in the elementary school building with two sessions of two and one-half hours planned.

Children will be bused by the school district one way. They may either ride to school in the morning or return home in the afternoon by bus.

IEC opposes Hailey plan

HAILEY — The Idaho Environmental Council today announced opposition to the proposed McCulloch land development project near Hailey.

The IEC board of directors passed a position statement on the development Saturday in Idaho Falls.

According to president Gerald Jayne, the group consists of about 400 Idaho citizens concerned about environmental problems in the state.

The position paper was approved following a presentation concerning the McCulloch Properties, Inc., development by Richard Meyer, Ketchum, member of the IEC board.

The paper states that the IEC opposes the development, "due to the potential environmental, economic and cultural impact of the project on the existing communities and citizens in the area and the surrounding high-quality natural environment."

A listing of aspects of the project included with the paper stated "specific detrimental impacts":

— An overloading of the Hailey waste plant and the waste assimilative capacity of the Big Wood River.

— The creation of a pseudo-community without the required community services, facilities and amenities.

— An increase in air pollution.

— A demand for the expansion of transportation facilities.

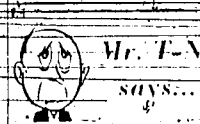

— A demand for additional educational facilities.

— Increased use of the recreational amenities in the area.

— Additional people in an already overcrowded area which has not implemented the necessary land use planning and regulatory programs.

— Depreciation of the aesthetic resources.

— A need for additional tax revenues.

Twin Falls gets new band uniforms. Wendell gets kindergarten. Priorities, huh?

Tougher controls due for economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has decided to tighten some aspects of his wage-price stabilization program, administration officials said today.

In a further move to combat the worst inflation in a generation, officials said Nixon probably would again require big companies to get prior approval for price increases of more than 1.5 per cent and raise the possibility of orders to roll back price rises exceeding increases in costs.

Details of Nixon's revised economic policy were to be announced this afternoon after he had conferred with his top advisers as well as business and union leaders.

It appeared that the President's measures would be less sweeping than the general freeze or rollback proposals urged by some members of Congress. One top economic adviser said the President's statement would be "constructive but not startling."

Administration officials suggested that Nixon intended in his statement to try to boost confidence in the largely voluntary Phase III wage and price controls that have prevailed for most of this year.

Joining the session were Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Kenneth L. Rush, who has been serving temporarily as Nixon's top domestic affairs adviser.

Claims query planned

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The accountant who audits the Twin Falls County books said Tuesday he would "raise the question" next year about county commissioners' claiming money to travel to work from home.

Don Ralio, a certified public accountant, who met with the commissioners Tuesday to discuss revenue sharing money, made the remark after the meeting in an interview.

He had told the commissioners he thought the claims for mileage money had been solely for business expenses.

He said following his meeting that if the commissioners were claiming money for their drives to work or back home in the evening, "it would appear to raise" certain questions about tax reporting procedures.

He declined to elaborate on his statement until he had an opportunity to look into the question.

The commissioners claim a standard 10 cents-per-mile reimbursement for their drives to work, a check of county records showed several days ago. They feel they are on duty 24 hours a day, and often tend to county business on their drives into work.

An attorney general's opinion is expected on the question of whether the claims are proper, and the commissioners have pledged to honor that opinion.

So far in 1973, the county taxpayers have paid out about $200 in tax money against the claims filed by commissioners William Chaney, Merl Leonard and William Wiseman. No other county official, either appointed or elected, files similar claims.

Ralio said there is no question that if the claims filed pertain directly to legitimate business travels it is "absolutely right" for the commissioners to collect reimbursement for them.

The question would arise, he said, if the money were only for a trip from home to work or back again.

The county clerk does not withhold taxes on the reimbursements.

The commissioners recently received a legislative pay raise to $4,800 annually, an increase from their present $4,400.

Nurses plan to conveye

BURLEY — Plans are being made for the 20th annual convention of the Licensed Practical Nurses of Idaho.

The event is scheduled for June 20-22 at the Ponderosa Inn, with Twin Falls, District 2, members serving as hosts, assisted by Burley, Northside and Soda Springs. Some 300 members are expected to attend.

Theme for the convention "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow in Nursing," will be carried throughout the entire convention, according to Mrs. Evelyn Myers, Twin Falls, State convention chairman.

Dr. John McKinn, Twin Falls surgeon, will be keynote speaker during a student seminar slated for the final day of the convention. His speech on "Trauma" will discuss nursing care of the surgical patient, Mrs. Myers said, and the seminar is open to all members of the medical profession.

Other speakers tentatively scheduled are Dr. Russell Newcomb and Dr. Harry Brumback, both Twin Falls. The opening day's schedule will feature a panel entitled "Your Opinion Please," moderated by Grace Holton, Caldwell.

Officers will be elected Thursday and a memorial service planned.

The convention will conclude with the annual dinner at 7 p.m. Friday, June 22.

Two truce team 'copters fired on by Communists

SAIGON (UPI) — Two international truce team helicopters were fired on by Communist-held territory while on a mission in northern South Vietnam today and Canadian Ambassador Michel Gauvin termed the shooting a "deplorable act."

A Canadian member of the International Commission of Control and Supervision (ICCS) said the two ICHS helicopters were fired on as they left Quang Tri City 400 miles north of Saigon.

Gauvin told reporters: "I don't know yet the details of the shooting but it was a deplorable act."

The attack today caused no damage and no one was injured, he said. Two American civilian pilots were aboard the helicopters.

Informed sources said they were not blaming the Communists for the ground fire today, but said it "definitely came from the Communist

US F4 Phantoms napalm rebels

PHNOM-PENH (UPI) — The Cambodian High Command said today fighting had slackened off around the country and that rebels across the Mekong River from Phnom-Penh had been dispersed. But waves of U.S. F4 Phantoms struck there today in sight of the capital that was evaded during the night by military jets.

The F4 fighter-bombers streaked out of the puffy white clouds to drop 500-pound bombs and napalm on suspected rebel positions just east of the capital. The attacks came in full sight of Phnom-Penh residents and refugees pouring into the city from their homes across the Mekong.

The refugees lined the banks closer to the target area and chanted excitedly while the planes made their bomb runs in the 56th consecutive day of American bombing in Cambodia.

Some refugees had interrupted their flight to watch a battle between government and rebel troops one mile away across the river. It was too far and the undergrowth was too thick to see the soldiers, but the sounds of battle carried clearly across the water, along with the roar of naval artillery being fired by a government gunship further down the river.

The Phantoms, in what has become almost daily show for residents of Phnom-Penh, struck at mid-afternoon about three miles east of the capital. The falling bombs and napalm carlinators could easily be seen from the city, as well as the huge clouds of smoke caused by the explosions.

The political situation was still muddled and there was no indication if the new four-man ruling council, headed by President Lon Nol, formally assumed power.

The council replaced the cabinet which resigned last month as Lon Nol could broaden the base of his government.

Watergate grand jury summons palace guard

The Times said the "basic scheme" in the cover-up effort included having officials involved in the operation deny knowledge of it, and promising payments as well as executive clemency if convicted to five men arrested at the Watergate.

The Times quoted investigators that soon after the bugging arrests, G. Gordon Liddy, who was convicted in January as a leading conspirator, was selected as the person "to blame it all on."

"Everybody knew that Gordon knew how to keep his mouth shut," investigators were quoted, "and they were right — he did."

Liddy has been given a sentence of at least six years in prison for his part in the plot and has refused to tell grand jurors about details of the bugging. He was given an added term of up to eight months by the trial judge for refusal to testify.

In another fresh development, Martha Mitchell, wife of the former attorney-general who was head of the Nixon re-election campaign at the time of the bugging, was subpoenaed to give sworn testimony Thursday about what she knows about Watergate.

Her testimony will be taken in New York as a deposition in a $64-million civil damage suit the Democratic party brought against principals in the bugging case.

Nixon was reported planning to complete the White House shake-up by next week. There was no indication whether he intended to bring in new aides or to have present assistants take over their roles.

A long-time political associate and erstwhile Cabinet member and counselor, Robert H. Finch, offered to help out in the reorganization temporarily.

Sage Chics elect

THREE CREEK — New officers of the Sage Chics 4-H club of Three Creek were announced today.

Cathy Clark was elected president, Andy Tingstrom, vice president, Barbara Swan, secretary, Shana Brewer, treasurer, and the families of reporter Matt Jones, flag bearer, and Ellen Tingstrom and Mary Williams, historians.

Club members also announced plans to assist in the Saturday Johnny Horizon Day clean-up campaign. Their April meeting featured a pot luck dinner in honor of club leader, Fred Jones, and the families of Club members.

Aussie complains of N-tests

CANBERRA (UPI) — Prime Minister Gough Whitlam announced today that Australia will take legal action against France in the International Court of Justice to block further nuclear tests in the Pacific.

Whitlam told the House of Representatives that scientific reports established clearly that the French tests had contaminated the Australian environment with radioactive fallout.

As a result, Whitlam said, his government will initiate legal action against France in the International Court at the Hague.

Firm yield rises

By RONNIE R. AND JONES
Times-News writer
It is marketed by a California firm as the JCE Mark II.

In August, 1971, Electro Security Devices selected Twin Falls as the location of its plant manufacture electronic detection devices including a burglar alarm. The firm purchased the old filter plant which the city had twice tried unsuccessfully to auction off and was about to demolish.

With an initial investment of $23,500 in a two-story brick building and 15 acres of land, the firm began manufacturing the electronic devices for shipment throughout the country and to several foreign outlets.

In December, 1972, Harold Humphrey, company president, said, the firm obtained a contract with John Colling Enterprises, Palo Alto, Calif., for the manufacture of the small calculator.

On Tuesday the firm had completed the first 25,000 calculators. Increasing production in April to 44,000 compared to 9,000 in the previous month.

Humphrey said production of the calculators will continue to increase until about mid-1974 when it is anticipated production will decline as demands level off.

The Wall Street Journal recently wrote about the JCE Mark II as being the best buy for the money in the small calculator field.

In addition to the calculators, the firm is continuing to produce about 200 electronic detection devices and about 250 small power supply units per month.

The plant's output of 500 calculators per day and the other electronic equipment requires the services of 38 plant workers, 3 technicians and 6 office and administrative employees.

"We started with two people in the fall of 1971," Humphrey said, "and we believe our payroll will be up to $200,000 a year in the near future."

Jerome 'clean up' set

JEROME—City engineer Bill Block told the City Council Tuesday night that the city will participate with the county on Johnny Horizon day.

Block said a city wide clean up program will be launched Saturday in conjunction with Johnny Horizon day. Block said city crews and community organizations, high school students, Boy and Girl Scouts and other civic and service organizations are planning to participate in the drive and will meet at the Jerome County Fairgrounds at 9 a.m. Saturday where they will be assigned to specific areas within the city and county.

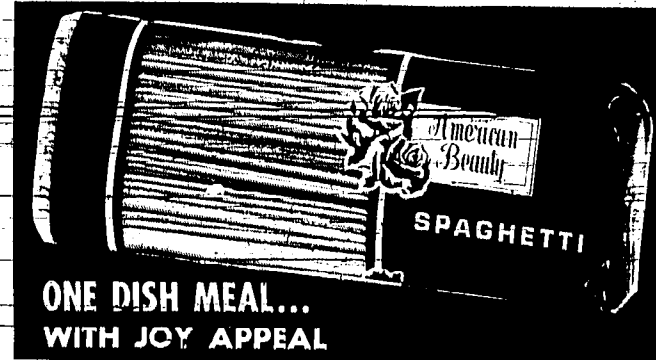

Chairmen of the project besides Block are Melvin Magnelli and John Van Orman. In the east end of the county the program is set to begin promptly at 8:30 a.m. Eden city volunteers and grade school students will form teams and clean up the rural areas around Eden. Block noted that also in Eden and Hazelton, city vehicles and highway department trucks will be made available wherever needed by workers.

Pledges exceed $10,000 for 'Y' walk-a-thon

TWIN FALLS—The walk-a-thon for the YMCA-WYCA swimming pool fund brought pledges in excess of $10,000 from 304 sponsors, Charles Upton, executive director, said today.

He said of the approximately 80 persons who walked Saturday on behalf of the pool project, 55 completed the full 20.1 mile course on foot and all others completed at least eight miles.

Upton said the marchers contributed much in the way of reaching the $125,000 goal for completion of the pool.

Trophies donated and engraved by Gem State Trophies, were presented Tuesday afternoon to Steve Green and Dave Skinner as the first to finish the course walking in four hours and 30 minutes for Green and four hours and 37 minutes for Skinner.

Two other marathon runners completed it in just over two and one-half hours but were not included in the contest with those walking the route. First girls to finish were Vanessa Lee Garrett and Cindy Garrett, sisters and members of the local swim team, who are anxious to see the pool completed.

Upton said the next project to raise funds for the pool is a drive to fill the pool with aluminum cans which will be turned in for recycling to increase the revenue. The project will not only help build the pool but will help the ecology of the area by picking up discarded cans, "Y" officials said.

Upton said the drive has already started. It is scheduled to show its first results July 7 when collections will be turned in for recycling.

He said the YMCA and WYCA boards of directors appreciate the cooperation and the "suffering" on the part of those who walked with the march and walked the route to the Hansen Bridge and back.

Medical assistance including Band-Aids for blistered feet and rides for exhausted marchers was furnished by Headquarters Troop, 116th Armored Cavalry, and radio communications by amateur radio operators. State and county law enforcement officers assisted throughout the day.

Church sets June hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, says his Senate Interior subcommittee on water and power resources will hold hearings June 13 here on the possibility of tapping geothermal resources for electric energy.

Church, committee chairman, said he called the hearings to take testimony from officials of federal agencies currently involved with programs dealing with geothermal energy.

Hansen praises Nixon's stand

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Gerald Hansen, R-Idaho, Tuesday praised the President for promising there would be no whitewash in the Watergate investigation and urged appointment of a special prosecutor for the investigation.

"The removal of top White House aides was an obviously painful but necessary step to restore the public confidence that has been weakened by this sordid affair," Hansen said.

"However, there are many more questions that need to be answered," he said.

"The Idaho Republican said the appointment of Elliott Richardson as Attorney General demonstrated the president's determination to uncover the truth about the case and to prosecute all who are guilty of wrong doing."

Author found guilty

BOISE—They called him "bluff" and he may leave the game, perhaps for a year.

Marvin L. Cooley, 45, Mesa, author of "The Big Bluff," a book allegedly explaining how to file income tax returns without paying taxes, was found guilty in federal court of willful failure to file his own income tax returns for 1968, 1969 and 1970.

He was charged with failure to report alleged income of $18,912 in 1968, $17,214 in 1969 and $19,083 in 1970. The federal judge set sentencing for May 20, 1973.

It took a lot more than a smooth ride to make Ford Torino the best selling car in the mid-size field.

The closer you look, the better we look.

Optional AM/FM stereo, radio with front and rear dual speakers.

Torino's instrument panel. All gauges are easy to read, controls within easy reach of driver.

Behind Torino's smooth ride are better ideas in engineering. Like single mounted shock absorbers for increased directional stability. Rubber body/frame mounts that help isolate the passenger compartment from road shocks. And a coil spring upper insulated floor suspension that helps minimize noise and road vibration.

Inside you'll find expansive room up front. Plus the kind of luxury you'd expect from high priced automobiles.

So take a good, close look at Ford Torino for '73. Discover why it's become the best selling car in the mid-size field.

The Democrats—Political Response

WASHINGTON Democratic party leaders are now seriously considering this unique political response to the national disaster of Watergate: buy network TV time, call for national unity, avoid recommitments and demand ruthless and complete exposure of all the squalid facts. No final decision has been reached, and party chairman Robert Strauss may decide that the time is not quite ripe for such an appeal. The purpose would be to put the Democratic party on the side of the angels and to make a vivid demonstration of steering clear of normal partisan exploitation at the expense of President Nixon.

In short, such party leaders as Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, chairman of the Democratic Governors' Conference, and others—led by Strauss—are fearful that traditional partisan efforts to cash in on Mr. Nixon's extreme and painful vulnerability could backfire, causing Republicans to re-form their lines around Mr. Nixon. But worse, they fear that the President's vulnerability means that the United States is also extremely vulnerable. A President stripped of his power by Watergate is a country similarly stripped of its power.

Strauss, who has turned down recent invitations to go on national television shows so as to avoid any charge of exploiting a national crisis for partisan gain, would not himself take part in stating the Democratic party's position on National TV.

Too obviously political himself, he would invite such party leaders as Bumpers, perhaps the esteemed Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, or another influential Senator, and a leading House Democrat to state the party's case.

That case: appeal for national unity on grounds that there is only one President; pledge Democratic support for any clean-up or reform the President wanted to institute, particularly in the field of campaign spending; and demand total disclosure of Watergate and attendant scandals—but no political or moral judgments. The voters, say the Democratic leaders, will have plenty of facts to make such judgments without help from any Democrat.

activity in Indo-China will have at least a 50-50 chance of becoming law. No one is watching the steady transformation of the Democratic-controlled House from faithful ally to White House foe on Vietnam with more anxiety than Dr. Henry Kissinger.

His new talks in Paris with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho are now set for mid-May. Kissinger knows that if Congress should decide to pull the rug out from under President Nixon, most of the U.S. bargaining power to persuade Hanoi to establish a more reliable ceasefire in South Vietnam will disappear.

Ambassador in Cambodia, for example, has been indispensable in preventing a Communist takeover—which, in turn, would convert Cambodia into a countrywide base of operations for attacking South Vietnam. The danger of losing long-standing House support for the President, moreover, is unavoidably heightened by the imminent resignation of Richard Kelsey Cook, chief White House lobbyist in the House—and a long-headed parliamentary expert with intimate ties to powerful Democrats as well as Republicans.

Kissinger and Cook have developed a remarkably successful one-two punch in the House, Kissinger playing the weighty, sophisticated Mr. Outside who is brought in to say the proper things at the proper time to groups of House members, and Cook playing Mr. Inside, roaming the House corridors to plot parliamentary tactics and strategy and collect political IOUs.

With Cook now leaving (to become vice president of Lockheed Aircraft after four years in the White House) and the House ready to join the Senate and tie the President's hands, the prospect of a legal veto on any U.S. military spending may not be far off.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Body Change

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you discuss the change in our chemistry after having one or both breasts removed or the uterus removed (hysterectomy)?

There is, I think, a definite change in tolerance to medicine or vitamins, or a so-called allergy after all that is removed. Mrs. V.M.

It may have been your experience that such changes occurred after the surgery, but it would have to have been from some other causes, not from the surgery. The breasts and uterus are known as "end organs." They respond to hormones and other stimuli but they do not control other parts of the body. Hence their removal does not bring about a change in general body chemistry, anymore than your amputation of an arm or leg.

There are organs that exert control, of course, and the simplest example is removal of part of the thyroid gland, which alters the body's metabolism, but that is a different matter.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What

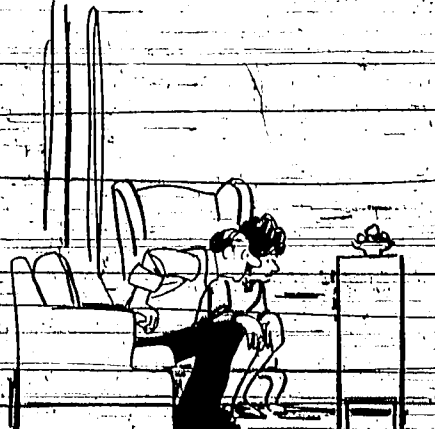

causes red blood cells in the urine? I had x-ray and the doctor said my kidneys were okay. There must be infection in the system. Please write about it. — Mrs. R.S.

Could be infection; could be bleeding, of course, from one source or another. If the trouble isn't originating in the kidneys, that does not mean that the trouble may not be in the bladder. Instead, Cystoscopic examination would be one obvious way of checking into that possibility. Bladder troubles are included in my booklet, "Your Kidneys. Facts You Need To Know." Send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope if you'd like a copy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I like peanut butter and thought it to be a healthful food, but I have been told that it will coat the lining of the stomach. Is this true? — J.V.

No, Not true. Peanut butter may seem to stick to your mouth but it soon enough is washed away and digested. Same, only more so, in your stomach.

BERRY'S WORLD

Tune in to tomorrow evening's news for the next thrilling installment of the Watergate Capers!

Escalation

American automobile manufacturers have scheduled May output at just under 1 million cars, more than 10 percent ahead of the figure for May of '72, when output was high. This year will see the highest May output ever.

Demand for new cars continues unabated, with sales setting records month by month.

Automobile men see no letup in sight. They now predict the year's output — and sales — will far outdistance any previous 12-month period.

If the auto industry is now the bellwether of the economy, as some economists contend, business will continue to hum in the months ahead.

Booby Traps

At least 75 per cent of the fatal accidents on the 34,500-mile Interstate Highway System involve roadside "booby traps" — unyielding signposts, steep embankments, rigid light poles and poorly designed guardrails.

The U.S. Department of Transportation reports that more than half the fatal accidents on the Interstate system between 1969 and 1971 were single-vehicle, run-off-the-road crashes and estimates that fixed objects take a toll of more than 4,500 lives annually.

In a related study by the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation during the first half of 1972, investigators attributed 357 deaths to fixed roadside objects struck by cars. By comparison, only 290 people died in crashes with other cars.

"The most deplorable aspect of the situation is that roadside death traps have been put there by man," comments Thomas C. Morrill, vice-president of State Farm Mutual, the nation's largest automobile insurer.

They can be eliminated simply and economically. The technology to do it has been available. The General Accounting Office, the watchdog on spending for Congress, reports that dollars spent to remove highway hazards have five times the lifesaving value of dollars spent on new roads.

But only if these hazards are reported to appropriate state and local officials, says Morrill, and only if individuals and concerned organizations urge these officials to act; will we begin to see death traps eliminated from our roads.

ANDREW TULLY

Scary Graveyard

WASHINGTON Liberals in Congress are whistling in a particularly scary graveyard when they claim they have the votes to re-fund the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Antipoverty programs as we have known them since Lyndon Johnson's Great Society days are dead. Concerning OEO specifically, the liberals don't have the votes, and even if they did a Nixon veto of the appropriation bill is as sure as yesterday. Any politician who believes Congress would override the Presidential veto in today's atmosphere should run, not walk, to the nearest shrink for a look-see at his thinking machinery.

It is all very well to note that a Federal judge has blocked the dismantling of OEO by the Nixon administration on the grounds that only Congress could phase out a program it had funded and mandated. Even in this curious age, no government program can survive without money, and when the end of the current fiscal year arrives on June 30 the tap will be shut off.

That quantity, I suggest, will be a response to the mood of the country's grassroots. The scandals that have beset OEO, especially in its Community Action program, have produced a tragic reaction across the land. They have turned the country against the poor, or at least against Washington's costly and frivolous attempts to help the poor. Given that national mood, it would not be surprising if Richard Nixon succeeded in declaring poverty illegal.

In his book, Daniel P. Moynihan declared: "This is the essential fact: The government did not know what it was doing." Nixon's onetime resident liberal, now ambassador to India, has been around the track; he worked for both Johnson and Jack Kennedy.

OEO's supporters cannot make the statistics go away. Since 1964, Washington has spent more than $2.8 billion for Community Action operations. Except in a few instances, the program has been a dreadful flop. Most of the people who were poor in 1964 are still poor, existing on welfare checks. They have not been moved out of poverty, as Lyndon Johnson promised.

The reason for this failure is quite clear. It is that not enough of that $2.8 billion found its way to the poor. And the reason the poor were not helped is that an astounding 60 per cent of all Community Action money was spent on headquarters salaries and overhead. They should have named the thing the Office of Economic Opportunity for Career Uplifters.

The uplifters had it good while it lasted. While the poor languished, their selfless benefactors used Community Action to fatten their own pocketbooks by exercises in what might be called, charitably, genteel thievery. Not content with their fat paychecks, the do-gooders resorted to profitable corruption.

ART BUCHWALD

The Forgotten

WASHINGTON The forgotten men of the Watergate Affair are the four Cuban refugees who were among the seven men convicted of bugging the Democratic headquarters on June 17, 1972. To this day, these men think they were hired to strike a blow against Fidel Castro.

At this very moment, they are probably sitting in their Washington, D. C., jail cells discussing how they had contributed to Castro's downfall.

Well, amigos, it will just be a matter of time until we will be back home in Havana. "That is true, dear friends. Even though we have been caught, Castro must be shaking in his boots knowing we could get into the Watergate without his stopping us."

I spoke to G. Gordon Liddy in the mess hall yesterday and he told me the President is very proud of us for what we did to halt communism from spreading to South America.

Si, he told me the same thing. He said if it hadn't been for us Cubans, Fidel would now be sleeping in the Watergate Hotel.

"I must be dumb, amigos, but I still don't understand what we were doing in the Democratic national headquarters."

"Stupido! We were putting in a bug so we could listen in on the Democrats' telephone line to Havana. Mr. Liddy said the Democrats did nothing during the election without first checking with Fidel. It was essential to the Republicans to know what the Democrats were cooking up."

"But who paid us all the money?"

going in front of the grand jury all the time.

"You don't know why?"

Because the Democrats are trying to prove our bugging had nothing to do with Cuba. They say it had to do with the American election.

"Garamba! Everyone knows we wouldn't be in on a bugging if it didn't have to do with Cuba. Those Democrats are real crazy people if they think we would be involved in something like this if it wasn't to get Castro."

"I read in the newspaper where high people in the White House were behind the bugging of the Watergate."

"Why shouldn't they be? They hate Fidel as much as we do. Mr. Liddy told me the White House got reports on everything that happened at the Watergate. He said once they got enough information, the President was going to launch an attack on the Bay of Pigs."

"But if the White House approved of what we were doing, why are we still in jail?"

"To tell Castro into a false sense of security. He thinks the Justice Department is made of us for what we did. Once Castro lets his guard down, they will fly us to Southern Florida and let us lead the invasion against the beaches."

"But the judge said we could get up to 40 years in jail."

"Mr. Liddy said not to pay any attention to the judge. He was just mad because he thought the bugging had to do with the elections. Once he finds out it was against Castro, he will give us all medals. I don't know why I have a bad feeling about all this. There are too many people involved who weren't Cubans. Maybe there was more to it than we knew."

MR. SPECTATOR

Up At Elkhorn

Awhile back a friend down California way sent a tear sheet from one of the Los Angeles papers upon which was an advertisement telling of the possibilities for investment, housing and the like up at Elkhorn at Sun Valley.

The whole thing was amusing because in a note attached to the page the fellow asked the question:

"Why do you want people to come up to Idaho and crowd you out?"

Was a good question. But we didn't have the answer.

And now there is going to be more activity which involves Elkhorn because they are advertising again — and this time in the "big way."

We were scanning the magazine "Business Week" which is a leader in that field. In fact, subscriptions are solicited only from management in industry and business.

Well, as a result of the scanning, there came to our attention a double page advertisement on Pages 28 B-W and 28 C-W. It was titled "The vacation nobody has ever taken."

Starting out, the advertisement says: "For 35 years Sun Valley has been one of a handful of resorts to be 'adopted' by the world's most prosperous, most prominent, most active people. It has never been the sort of place that comes to mind when you're planning a family vacation. But that's about to change. Because this is the first summer for Sun Valley's new sister community, Elkhorn — at Sun Valley."

The advertisement continues by pointing out that Elkhorn people will have both Sun Valley and Elkhorn facilities at their disposal. It will be the perfect family playground, there are lots of things to do together, lots of things to do on your own. There's a health spa, golf — all of that plus scenery.

There will also be "Sun Money" which gives each adult $75 worth of coupons for recreational activities — and each child $50 worth.

And meals. It is pointed out that if a family eats out all the time the cost will be away up there — so accommodations include complete kitchens. If you want to cook you can.

People will be staying in new, full-sized condominiums — one, two, three and four bedroom units rented out by their owners at Elkhorn. And there are accommodations for families of all sizes.

Prices, the advertisement says, are reasonable. For instance, a 7-day, 2-night package including lodging in a two-bedroom condominium, raft trip, hayrack ride, picnic, barbecue and the Sun Money books will cost only $564 for a family of four. Or a family of five in a three-bedroom condominium at $664 and a family of seven in a 4-bedroom unit, $1837.

You can start your vacation at Elkhorn any Saturday from June 16 through September 1.

If you are interested (the advertisement says) just call the toll-free number 1-800-635-5316.

Elkhorn, the ad says, is a joint venture of subsidiaries of Sun Valley Company and the Johns-Manville Corporation.

So there you have it. As Mr. Spectator would point out, lots of activity up north (and at Hailey) whether you like it or not.

State post grows

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — Although it wasn't exactly what he had in mind when he first ran for the office, Lt. Gov. Jack M. Murphy has found himself at work nearly full-time for the state of Idaho.

"When I started it took about 10 per cent of my time," Murphy says of the historically part-time post. "Now it's about 80 per cent."

Eventually, he says, the post should be made full-time with a commensurate salary. It also should be tied politically to that of the governor — the two running for election as a team. In his first term, starting in 1967, Murphy served with a fellow Republican, then Gov. Don W. Samuelson. Since 1971, however, he has served as the Republican head of a divided house with Democratic Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

"I think the lieutenant governor should run with the governor as a team and the office should be full-time," Murphy said. "He should be the strong right arm of the governor and his trouble shooter."

"Notwithstanding the fact I might not be lieutenant governor had that been the way," he said, "nonetheless the philosophy is right." Until Murphy became lieutenant governor duties of the office primarily were presiding over the senate when the legislature was in session — and substituting for the governor when he was out of state.

full-time job

Murphy, who campaigned on a promise to be a working lieutenant governor, has changed all that. He has gone from the two days per week he used to spend on the job — between legislative sessions — to about four days per week. His home is Shoshone where he practices law and from where he used to oversee some of the operations of his ranching interests. His time for law practice is limited now and his brother-in-law, as a partner, is running the ranch.

"I have to be most careful about the cases I take (as a lawyer), to make certain they don't have a conflict of interest," he says. "I can handle no criminal cases and I cannot practice before the industrial commission, the tax commission or the public utilities commission — to name a few."

Murphy's annual salary as lieutenant governor is $7,000 per year — plus his $50 per day compensation as president of the senate when it is in session.

When serving as acting governor, he drops the lieutenant governor salary and picks up instead that of the governor — some $85 per day.

He also gets $50 per day whenever working in his office on business assigned the lieutenant governor by the governor or by the legislature.

When all this is added up — plus his expenses — it comes out to approximately $22,000 a year, Murphy says. With expenses taken out it amounts to about $15,000 year in pay.

Besides his duties as senate president and acting governor in absence of the chief executive Murphy also handles a variety of special assignments and makes a number of public appearances.

He has duties with 14 interim committees of the legislature — either as administrator, member or ex-officio member. These include the important in-land and land exchange committee which must deal with the federal government.

Mitchell aids Vesco

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — John N. Mitchell, while still Attorney General, tried to get the U.S. Embassy in Beirut to help the dealings of a financier who gave $200,000 to the Nixon election campaign, the Los Angeles Times reported today.

The financier, John Vesco, is one of the defendants in a civil suit by the Securities and Exchange Commission, charging him with "hoarding" $224 million from Investors Overseas Services Ltd.

The Times said secret records of the State Department detail Mitchell's intervention for Vesco in January, 1972.

It is the third reported case of an intervention by Mitchell on behalf of Vesco, the Times said.

At the time, Vesco was trying to gain control of Intra Bank, a major Middle Eastern financial house in which the U.S. government is a stockholder, due to a U.S. bankruptcy claim.

The Times said reliable sources revealed that the State Department record of the incident had been turned over to a federal grand jury in New York last Friday.

The grand jury is believed to be investigating a $200,000 cash donation from Vesco to the Nixon re-election committee on April 10, 1972. The money was later returned to Vesco, after the legality of the donation was questioned.

According to the state department files, the newspaper said, Mitchell went "outside normal state department communications channels" to communicate directly with the legal attaché at the embassy in Beirut, Theodore Korontjis, saying the administration had "the utmost confidence in Vesco."

Vesco was under investigation by the SEC at the time, and Lebanese officials were reported wary of his intra bank offer. It was never accepted.

Korontjis detailed Mitchell's call in a memo to Ambassador William B. Buffum, who was reluctant to become involved in the Vesco affair and asked the State Department for instructions and an explanation of Mitchell's intervention. The State Department was unaware of Mitchell's call until the ambassador's query was read.

The state department asked Mitchell what he was doing, and Mitchell replied that Korontjis had misunderstood the communication from Mitchell.

Korontjis and Mitchell both refused comment on the report, the Times said.

Madrid launches hunt for killer

MADRID (UPI) — Authorities launched a nationwide hunt today for the killers of a policeman in May Day violence, the first such reported murder since 1939 when Generalissimo Francisco Franco came to power.

Police said they were looking for 135 persons in an effort to trace the attackers who killed policeman Jose Antonio Fernandez Gálvez, 20, in Madrid during a demonstration. Six other policemen were wounded during the attack.

Police blamed leftwing extremists for the murder, the most serious of several May Day incidents in the country.

Police said today they were looking for a fourth man and a woman who may have been involved in events leading up to the drama at St. Cecilia's.

The suspects, matching the description of robbers who held up a sporting goods store about 15 minutes earlier, roared up to the school in a car and one of them jumped out shooting.

"We're going to shoot everybody here,"

Sisters of St. Benedict's Hospital have new home

Jerome home 'delivered'

JEROME — The sisters of St. Benedict's Hospital have a new home. It was delivered in a single package Monday and will be occupied in the near future.

The new living quarters, a Boise-Cascade pre-built unit consisting of eight bedrooms and other living facilities, was delivered as a single unit from Boise and placed on a foundation poured at the site earlier.

The building is 20 by 40 feet and consists of two stories with four bedrooms on each level. On the lower level are the bedrooms, a chapel, a utility room, two baths and a recreation room. In the upper portion are the bedrooms, living, and dining rooms, kitchen, two baths and a utility room.

The building is all electric, fully carpeted and arrived complete with range, refrigerator, automatic dishwasher and heat pump.

Sisters of St. Benedict's hospital expect to be in their new quarters within 45 days during which a basement portion will be completed. The new facility is part of the St. Benedict's expansion program, now in its first phase.

Until recently the sisters occupied quarters on the first floor of the hospital. Those have been vacated to allow for expansion of the administrative and educational facilities in the hospital. Sisters are now housed in temporary facilities in a large private home near the hospital.

Phase one of the hospital expansion and improvement project includes enlarging and modernizing the hospital emergency room, a new X-ray department, expansion of the laboratory, enlarging the general waiting room and installing a sprinkler fire system in the long term care unit. It also includes major quarters for the staff doctors, expanded nurses locker rooms, remodeling and enlarging of the nurses station and purchase of new equipment for the larger departments.

The new pre-built housing for the sisters was built to hospital specifications and purchased by the sisters of St. Benedict's. Bill and Weldon Weigle, Jerome distributors for Boise-Cascade Co., supplied the facility.

Brown raps Kleindienst

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — California Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. has accused former Attorney General Richard Kleindienst of blocking investigation of an allegedly illegal $100,000 campaign contribution to the Republican Party for more than a year.

In a telegram Tuesday to the Watergate grand jury, Brown said the contribution was given to the GOP by the International Telephone and Telegraph Co. and "clearly violated" the federal Corrupt Practices Act.

"For more than a year Attorney General Kleindienst has refused to properly investigate evidence of criminal activity in the ITT matter," Brown told the jurors. "Now that he is out of office, I urge you to widen your investigation to include the ITT contribution and other possible crimes committed during last year's campaign."

Brown, a contender for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1974, said he asked Kleindienst in March 1972 to "prosecute the guilty persons in the ITT case, but he refused to act and even ordered the U.S. Attorney in San Diego to refrain from investigating the matter."

Brown said the ITT contribution, given through the corporation's Sheraton Hotel's subsidiary, violated a section of the Corrupt Practices Act which prohibits corporations

Defense lawyers ask dismissal

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Defense lawyers moved for a dismissal of charges against Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo Tuesday, following disclosure that the White House had been conducting its own investigation of the Pentagon Papers case.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne took the motion and one for dismissal under submission as the trial became more deeply tangled in the Watergate affair.

Defense lawyers also alleged the federal government tried to bribe the judge in the virtual presence of the President, a reference to a meeting between Byrne and former Domestic Adviser John D. Ehrlichman at which Byrne was told he was being considered for a federal job.

An FBI memorandum revealed in court Tuesday disclosed that President Nixon personally ordered an independent White House investigation into the Pentagon Papers leak handled by Ehrlichman, who resigned Monday because of the Watergate scandal.

Ehrlichman told the FBI he personally "designated" E. Howard Hunt Jr. and G. Gordon Liddy, convicted Watergate defendants who at the time were White House staff members, to investigate Ellsberg's "emotional and moral problems," the report said.

Gem panel hires Smylie

BOISE (UPI) — Despite strong objections from some of the Democrats, the Government Reorganization Commission authorized its chairman Tuesday to hire former Gov. Robert E. Smylie as its legal counsel.

A contract drafted by a special subcommittee of the commission provides for compensation of $50 per hour up to a maximum of 320 hours in the next eight months or a total of $16,000. Sen. Warren Brown, R-McCall, chairman of the commission, said after a telephone conversation with Smylie that the former chief executive would agree to the terms.

(Earlier story, p. 8)

A proposal to hire Smylie, who served for seven years as attorney general and 12 years as governor before his defeat in 1966, provoked day-long bickering by the commission.

Brown, who originally brought up Smylie's name for the job at the initial meeting of the commission last month, summed up part of the opposition when he said:

"The question is about whether we can keep him under control. I think we can."

Later after the contract was drawn, Brown spoke with Smylie long-distance. Smylie was in San Francisco on business.

"He's very anxious to serve the state and reorganization in any capacity we desire," Brown reported back to the commission.

Sen. C. C. "Cy" Chase, D-St. Maries, most outspoken of those opposing the retention of the Boise lawyer and former Republican governor, said he felt the people already had spoken about his services when they beat him at the polls.

"This looks to me like it was pre-arranged," Chase said.

"There are some rumors behind the scenes to hire him."

"I don't know what they are."

Both Brown and Rep. Harold Snow, R-Moscow, vice chairman of the commission, denied there was any pre-arrangement to hire Smylie.

"I had it in mind because I felt he was the best qualified person," Brown admitted.

"But there was no commitment."

Sen. Robert Saxvik, D-Burley, noted the legislative council paid $25 an hour to Boise Lawyers George Greenfield and Sam Kaufman to do some interim work for it the past few years.

Smylie originally asked $2,100 per month or $26,000 to do the reorganization job. He predicted that on the rate the commission finally decided to pay him — $50 per hour.

Heavy rainfall renews flooding

By United Press International

Heavy rains and scattered thunderstorms in parts of Illinois and Missouri early today raised the threat that the Mississippi River, where a record flood has caused millions of dollars in damages and where the flood crested 13.6 feet over flood stage, was reached Tuesday at Cape Girardeau, Mo., but flood control officials to the north today feared renewed flooding in the St. Louis area because of heavy rainfall in the upper Mississippi Valley.

Flood fighters agreed that ground soaked by earlier rains could not take up much new precipitation, and the runoff would go straight into the swollen rivers and streams.

At Jonesville, La., strong winds pushed rising backwaters over the top of a 16-mile-long levee Tuesday, burying another 15,000 acres of soybean fields under water and forcing the evacuation of 150 families living in the area.

A farm leader at Mayersville, Miss., said cotton and soybean farmers were helplessly watching the remainder of the planting season pass with 90 per cent of their land covered by flooding.

"It's very definitely getting serious," said Jack Vance, Issaquena County executive for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

"Time's running out to get anything like a normal crop planted."

"He said 100,000 acres of farm land was under water in Issaquena County alone, with about 18,000 acres usually being planted in cotton and 70,000 to 75,000 acres being used for soybeans."

Elsewhere, the director of the Maine Civil Defense said Tuesday that flood damage along the St. John and Penobscot rivers should qualify the region as a disaster area.

"From my point of view here there should be no question it will get a disaster area declaration," said Emile Levesque. "The only question is the amount and the localities."

Mission funds increased

WALLACE (UPI) — The drive to raise funds for restoration work at the Old Cataldo Mission has reached the $20,000 mark, or 20 per cent of the goal, Henry Day, drive finance chairman, said Tuesday.

Day said the goal is to raise $50,000 from the northern Idaho communities of Kelllogg, Wallace, Coeur d'Alene, Moscow and Lewiston. The fund drive will run to mid-May.

The drive is keyed to a project of the Idaho Bicentennial Commission to restore and preserve the 120-year-old mission. Completion of the project is set for 1976.

Other funds for the project are available, including a federal matching grant of $15,000. Also, Day has offered to match gifts from Shoshone County residents made in the next two weeks.

Murphy appoints statehouse guard

BOISE (UPI) — To increase security and decrease vandalism, I. Gov. Jack Murphy has appointed a full-time sergeant at arms to oversee the Senate chambers.

Miko Franklin, assistant sergeant at arms during the last session of the legislature, has taken over the full-time duties at $12.50 per day.

Murphy said last year Franklin worked in the Senate chambers on a part-time basis, but the duties, including the number of meetings and the number of visitors on the third and fourth floors of the statehouse, have increased.

"He said he has full responsibility for the Senate side of the two floors."

"We've put a lid on what is going on in these chambers," Murphy said. He said there has been vandalism and thefts in the past, adding that the furniture, fixtures and machinery in the chambers is very valuable.

Murphy said Reed Christensen, sergeant at arms during the last session of the legislature, wrote the lieutenant governor a letter saying he could not assume the full-time responsibilities required of the position.

He said he would be interested in the position when the legislature went into session next January.

Christensen has been sergeant at arms for the last five sessions, beginning in 1967.

Church's bill to benefit all workers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, is sponsoring legislation to extend to all industrial workers in America the same benefits now provided to coal miners who suffer respiratory diseases as a result of their work.

The legislation would provide benefits to individuals who are totally disabled due to employment-related respiratory disease and to surviving dependents of individuals who die as a result of such illness.

Church noted that there appears to be evidence that hard-rock miners suffer respiratory diseases which are related to their occupation, although statistical evidence is sparse.

Among many respiratory diseases the legislation would cover is silicosis, caused by inhalation of silica dust, which is associated with several hard-rock mining industries.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Would you advise a husband and wife to work together every day? My husband is opening a new business and a lot of people have told me we might get tired of each other if we're together all day and all night. We get along very well.

I am a bookkeeper and receptionist so it's not like we'd be elbow-to-elbow all day long.

CONSIDERING IT

DEAR CONSIDERING: If you get along well together and aren't elbow-to-elbow all day long, there's no reason why it shouldn't work out. Some married couples who are nose-to-nose all day enjoy being cheek-to-cheek all night, while others who are apart all day would be happier apart all night, too.

Concerned togetherness

DEAR ABBY: This is my opinion of your answer to the mother of the married daughter with five children. "Mother" said her daughter's husband earns a very modest living, can't feed and clothe his family properly, and can't pay his bills. "Mother" was upset because her husband refused to help out because their son in law gives 10 per cent of all his earnings to his church.

Your answer was typical of the over-zealous religious fanatic. You said, "Surely you can't fault a man for honoring a commitment to the church!"

Why not? The son-in-law obviously thinks more of his church than he thinks of his family.

To top it off, you advised "Mother" to go against her husband's wishes and "climb into the sugar bowl" and help this family anyway.

I sure hope the father in law wrote and told you where to get off.

NAUSEATED IN CINCINNATI

DEAR NAUSEATED: He didn't. But quite a few other ers did, and I had it coming. Many readers pointed out that a man's first obligation is to his family, and if he can't support them adequately (not luxuriously, but adequately) he should offer his personal services to the church in lieu of money. (Now, why didn't I think of that? I'll take 10 lashes with an old prayer shawl.)

DEAR ABBY: I have been reading your column for many years and have never seen my problem discussed. When my husband and I were married, a friend suggested that we could have a nice sum for retirement if we would put a quarter in a box every time we made love.

As retirement time approaches I find that the coins aren't plinking into the box the way they once did. In fact, so far this year they've only been plunked twice.

With inflation and all, the way it is I suggested that my husband put a $20 bill in the box every time from now on. The way things are going he would have to pay only a couple of times a year.

TROUBLED IN TRENTON

DEAR TROUBLED: Between the rise of inflation and the fall of the plunking, it should average out like old times.

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend called me this morning and said, "If I asked you to marry me last night, I must have been stoned."

How would you have answered him? MARY BETH

DEAR MARY BETH: I'd have said, "And if I said 'Yes,' I must have been crazy."

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69709, T. A. Call, 90489. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hansen couple exchanges vows

HANSEN — Holly Johnson became the bride of Greg Moore in evening rites April 14 at the Kimberly Christian Church.

Rev. James Keefe conducted the double ring ceremony before beauty baskets of spring flowers and candelabra holding lighted yellow tapers. The candelabra were trimmed with greenery and rainbow ribbons.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. John Hansen, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moore, Hansen.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a princess-styled dress fashioned in white crepe and featuring long puffed sleeves and a front panel overlay of marquisette embroidered with white roses and trimmed with lace. The dress was styled with a back pleat accented with lace.

Her elbow-length veil was trimmed with matching lace. The dress and veil were designed and made by the bride and her mother. She carried a spring bouquet of white daisies surrounding a white rose.

Mrs. Richard Youree, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Tom Svaneau, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Dennis Butler, sister of the bridegroom.

Roger Perkins, Hansen, was best man. Walt Engstrom and Doug Moore, brother of the bridegroom, were groomsmen. Gina Triplett and Duane Day, cousins of the bride, were flower girl and ringbearer.

Mrs. Doug Gee played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Bob Triplett, cousin of the bride, in a vocal solo and Richard Youree, brother-in-law of the bride, in trumpet solos before and after the ceremony.

The couple was honored at a reception after the ceremony. The three-tiered wedding cake was trimmed with spring color pansies and topped with a miniature bride and groom seated under an arbor. The cake centered the reception table which was covered with a hand crocheted white lace tablecloth over green.

Mrs. Leman Messley, Burley, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Bud Reed, Hansen, aunt of the bridegroom, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Vernon Strolberg, Hansen, and Mrs. Earl Woodruff, Castleford, aunts of the bride, served punch and coffee. Women of the H. Timothy CWF assisted with the serving.

Mrs. Don Sievers registered guests.

Cindy and Mitzi Strolberg, cousins of the bride, served as gift carriers. Dean Pettygrove, Connie Russell, Marilyn Jones and Mrs. Doug Werner arranged the gift tables.

Special guests were Walter Messley and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johnson, Buhl, grandparents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Reed, Hansen, grandparents of the bridegroom.

After a short wedding trip, the couple resides at Hansen where the bridegroom is engaged in farming.

The bride was honored at three pre-nuptial showers given by Mrs. Earl Woodruff and Mrs. Tom Svaneau, by Mrs. Jack Shropshire, Mrs. Radford Walker and Mrs. Noel New, and by Mrs. Dennis Butler, Mrs. Don Sievers and Mrs. Doug Werner.

THINKING GIRL'S EXERCISE

By Mary Sue Miller

Does spot exercise bore you? If so, you do not get the most out of the effort. How's that?

You do concentrate on the muscles that you use. It fails to catch your interest. You go wool-gathering and think about most everything else. As a result your muscles relax on the job. Muscles, like other gold-brickers, need strict surveillance. For example, you could bend 20 times from the waist and get a 10-times result if your thoughts were on other matters. But were you to concentrate on the action, your ideas would be telegraphed to those lazy muscles. They would begin to do their job — to tighten and gird up flesh.

It's a case of mind over matter. Your thought has a "hot line" of communication to your musculature. The way to prove this to yourself is to experiment with the isometric variety (the thinking girl's kind) of exercise.

Try this: Put all your weight on the right leg and push down on the right heel. You should feel a resistive upward-pull from the ankle through the thigh. If you do not, you're not holding the right thought. You must command those calf muscles to tense; speak sternly to the knee and thigh network.

Perform before a mirror and see how the muscles respond. The reaction may be weak and slow at first, but it will increase. Then watch for an improved legline, about swimtime.

LEGLINE TRIMMERS

If your individual problem is heavy legs, send for my new legline LEGLINE TRIMMERS, which contains spot reducing exercises that will melt your individual areas, whether for thighs, knees, calves or ankles, or for contouring your entire legline. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents in coin.

We wrote about today's hand back in January. We explained that after East took his ace of hearts and returned the suit, declarer proceeded to lay down his king and queen of clubs. West, showed out and the slam could not make.

This was hard luck but we proceeded to puff out if South cashed his third heart and the three spades he would find that West started with five hearts and two spades. Then if he cashed three diamonds he would see that West was dealt exactly one club.

Then we explained that all South had to do was to play West's ace of clubs. West would follow and since he

Britons to keep Rolls

LONDON (UPI) — "Wonderful!" said stockbroker John Dymock-Matinsoll, speaking above the noise of the clock in his $24,500 Silver Shadow. "Rolls-Royce is as British as the monarchy."

A spokesman for N.M. Rothschild and Sons, Ltd., the bankers supervising the auction of the automobile division of the bankrupt Rolls-Royce firm, announced Tuesday no foreign firms submitted bids by the deadline.

The announcement brought muted signs of relief from Britons who drive the cars with names like Silver Cloud and Silver Shadow and with price tags ranging far beyond the annual salary of most British workers.

There was a fear that Rolls-Royce, synonymous for decades with English elegance and excellence in engineering ("the loudest noise is the ticking of the clock") might be sold off to foreigners and become another American or Japanese brand.

Automotive industry sources said American, Japanese and other foreign firms apparently decided not to bid for the firm because of a legal condition which would have prevented them from producing the cars under the "Rolls-Royce" name.

The Rothschild bankers said only British firms submitted bids when the highly profitable car division of bid bankrupt Rolls-Royce group went on sale to the highest bidder.

Rothschilds, acting for the group's court-appointed receiver, said at least one of the sealed bids received at its carpeted, chandelied offices exceeded the firm's minimum sale reserve price established before the bidding.

Gen. Big Minh bids for S. Vietnam leadership

SAIGON (UPI) — Gen. Duong Van "Big" Minh, who overthrew the late President Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963, Tuesday made an apparent bid for leadership of a third force political movement by offering his own program for South Vietnam's political future.

Minh's program fell somewhere between those of President Nguyen-Van Thieu and the Viet Cong. The only part of the program not previously proposed by either the South Vietnamese government or the Viet Cong was to switch the current political talks from La Celle Saint Cloud, near Paris, to an unspecified site in South Vietnam.

The Minh program appeared closer to that proposed by the Viet Cong last Thursday than the one proposed by the South Vietnamese government at the same time. Each side rejected the other's proposals.

President Thieu disclosed he planned reorganize his government and the civil service "along military lines" within a week. Thieu disclosed his plan at a strategy session of leaders of his newly formed Democratic party at the seaside resort of Vung Tau.

Thieu also said withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops was an essential condition in his government's plan for national elections this summer. "Only when the foreign North Vietnamese withdraw their 300,000 troops can elections be held in South Vietnam," he said.

In a Labor Day speech, Thieu also announced that his government has a plan for national manpower usage that will "provide work" for the labor force.

Pro-Nixon rallies paid by committee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Robert C. Odle Jr., director of administration for President Nixon's re-election committee, has testified that he spent $3,000 to $4,000 in campaign cash to help organize demonstrations in support of Nixon's 1972 mining of the Haiphong harbor.

According to Odle's deposition in the Democrats' $5.4 million civil damage suit against the committee, its Black Vote Division also received about $2,000 to help stage a rally on Capitol Hill in support of the mining.

The General Accounting Office said Friday that the Finance Committee to Re-Elect the President had not reported the expenditures as required by the 1971 Federal Election Campaign Act.

Odle testified he received the cash from Herbert L. Portier, scheduling director for the re-election committee, about the time of Nixon's mining of North Vietnamese harbors last May 8.

"I gave it to some of our various division directors to buy them charter buses and pay lunches and food and supplies, signs and things like that for demonstrations and rallies that were being held in the metropolitan area in support of the President's mining of the harbor at Haiphong."

TOPS plan contest

HANSEN — The "Corset Team Contest" was started at a meeting of Idaho TOPS No. 81 Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith.

The weight loss will determine the number of holes to be faced in the corset. The team that finishes facing its corset first will be the winner.

Cards were sent to Mrs. William Allen and Mrs. Afton Copson who have been ill.

Mrs. George R. Golay was best loser for the evening.

Mrs. Percy Christensen, leader, announced Mrs. Fred Howard will receive a five year KOPS achievement award at state recognition day at Pocatello June 8 and 9.

Mrs. Hazel Schutte was program chairman and read articles from the new TOPS magazine, one on medical research and the other on fat diets.

The club decided to have a backward weigh-in next week with Mrs. Juanita Cox as program chairman. She plans a dieting program on the grams method.

Y bridge winners announced

TWIN FALLS — Winners of Pool Players supervised bridge play Monday are announced by officials at the YWCA.

They are Donna Brown, first; Cora Bodensub, second; Hazel Lattimer, third, and Mary Hessel, fourth.

Supervised bridge is played each Monday at 1 p.m. at the YWCA building.

Everyone interested in improving their bridge playing is invited to participate.

Each player donates $1 to the VM-YWCA Pool Fund. Mrs. Ada Burgess is supervisor and can be reached at 733-7750 for additional information.

Valley PTA elects officers

VALLEY SCHOOLS — Mrs. Retha Anderson, Eden, was installed as a new president of the Valley PTA in a meeting Monday night at the Valley High School gymnasium.

Other new officers are Mrs. Karen Ott, vice president; Mrs. Linda Henry, second vice president; Mrs. Barbara Bausch, treasurer; and Mrs. Kathy Davidson, secretary.

They were installed by the outgoing president, Mrs. Sharon Hietting, Hazelton.

Mrs. Anderson led a discussion about possible projects for the 1973-74 school year. It was suggested that lights be purchased for the high school athletic field, or that pinball machines be purchased for the high school and made available for students to use during the noon hour. No definite action was taken.

Various ways to gain parent interest in the PTA were also discussed. A proposal to hold just three meetings per year was tabled again, awaiting further interpretation of the PTA bylaws by state officials.

Winners listed — Mrs. Eva Schmuckle was high score winner at a meeting of Merry Mixers Pinchle Club Monday at the home of Mrs. Willie McDaniel.

Mrs. L. Schmuckle, and Mrs. Noel Bailey were guests.

Mrs. Ben Haska won the low score prize and Mrs. Merle Zacharias won the traveling prize.

Officials air test ban issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States cannot always tell the difference between Soviet underground nuclear tests and earthquakes, Acting Director Philip J. Farley of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency said Tuesday.

For that reason, the administration believes it is not yet the time to join in an international ban on underground testing.

Farley gave the Senate arms control subcommittee the administration's view of a Senate resolution urging President Nixon to declare an immediate suspension of underground tests so long as the Soviet Union also abstained.

The U.S. and the Soviet Union, joined by Great Britain, signed a treaty in 1963 banning testing of nuclear weapons in outer space, earth's atmosphere, and under water.

A number of events in the U.S.S.R. are unidentifiable by telescopic networks because of inability to separate their surface waves from those of larger earthquakes occurring in the U.S.S.R. or elsewhere. This creates a set of events in which an explosion cannot be distinguished, Farley said.

Regarding the Senate call for a test moratorium, Farley said such a moratorium would necessarily lack many of the safeguards of a formal international agreement.

Rock Creek 4-H'ers elect

ROCK CREEK — New officers of the Rock Creek Rock Chucks 4-H Club were announced Tuesday, including Pauline Thibault as president.

Others are Kent Oliver, vice president; Danna DiMaggio, secretary; Lisa Fuller, treasurer; and Catherine Bourner, reporter-historian.

The club met Monday at the Randy Watson home to make plans for coming projects including participation in the Johnny Horizon Clean-Up Day Saturday. The next meeting will be May 14 at the home of Catherine Bourner.

Prior to the regular Monday meeting, the gun safety group met at the home of Mike Bourner for a gun cleaning inspection. Gun safety information was researched by the group at the College of Southern Idaho library.

The clothing group also met separately to review individual sewing projects which range from Handy Hand-sewing projects to bedtime outfits.

2 girls named area delegates

KIMBERLY Debra Butler, Hansen and Kelly Self, Murtaugh, have been selected as delegates to Girls' State.

They are sponsored by the Kimberly American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 76.

Alternates are Edda Lancaster and Judy Goodman.

Miss Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Butler, has been a cheerleader, drill team member, and has served as vice president, secretary and president of her class.

She is active in newspaper staff, annual staff and student council, and has been a homecoming attendant and homecoming queen.

Miss Self, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Self, Murtaugh, has been active in Pep Club and Pep Band. She is a clarinetist and also is active in chorus. Her hobbies are cooking, sewing and swimming. She is student-body reporter and has been elected student body treasurer for next year.

Financial support will be given the Hansen girl by the Hansen PTA. The Murtaugh delegate will receive financial support from the Murtaugh PTA.

Jerome gets 3 bids for construction

JEROME — Three bids were received Tuesday for construction of a regional fish and game office.

Jack Fisher, Boise, chief engineer for the Idaho Fish and Game Department, and Harold Gerber, Twin Falls, architect for the new office, opened the bids at the fish and game office at the state bird farm.

Bids were received from three Twin Falls firms — Wills Construction, with a base bid of $111,741; Ullman Construction, with a base bid of $115,605; and Neilsen Construction, with a base bid of $128,649.

Fisher said while Wills is the apparent low bidder, no contract will be awarded until department personnel have a chance to study the bids, compare them to specifications, and check for variances, listed by each bidder. He said no announcement of contract award would be made until after next week or possibly following the fish and game commission meeting May 16.

Fisher said the new office is a public works project and department personnel will make recommendations on the bids to the commissioner of public works who will award the contract.

The new regional office, a 4,000 square foot structure will be located east of Jerome on over three acres of land. The department's estimate of the cost of the new office was between $80,000 and $100,000. Fisher said the department has sufficient money in the budget to construct the new office even though bids ran well over the estimated cost.

Fisher and Gerber met with the City Council Tuesday night to discuss problems concerning the new office. Fisher told the council that there was a misunderstanding when negotiations were being conducted with the city.

"It was the department's understanding that the city would bring the sewer line to the new office so we could hook on. Now we find the city has only brought the line to the old city limits and I now understand that it is up to the department to obtain a right of way from Mrs. Susie Leonard and extend the sewer lines ourselves," Fisher said.

He asked the council for clarification on the agreement. City engineer Bill Drake told the council and Fisher that the agreement has always been that the city would bring the sewer line to the old city limits only and would provide a 10 inch water line to the new office for water and fire protection.

Fisher asked if the city could install the sewer and then be reimbursed by the department. He was told by Councilman S. N. Weeks the city uses a private contractor for sewer line installation. Weeks also said the department must give the city an easement for the right of way on the sewer line for maintenance.

A request by Gerber that the new office be taken out of the first fire district was granted by the council. The council asked the city attorney to draw up an amending ordinance to remove the office from the first fire district.

Gerber, in making his request, told the council that he designed the new building by the uniform building codes which are more restrictive than the standard building code used by Jerome.

If the building were to remain in the first fire district it would cost the department another $8,000 to conform to the standards set out in the uniform building code for a first fire district classification. He added that the first fire district is for businesses that are next to each other.

"The new office will be 50 feet from anything on all four sides and would pose no danger to any other structure should it burn," Gerber said.

GOODING — Moving in date for the Gooding Senior Citizen housing project is set for Saturday according to Gooding Housing Authority chairman Tom Miller.

The project is the second senior citizen housing unit for Gooding and is located at 209 West Third Ave. There are four one-bedroom units, one two-bedroom unit and handy facilities.

Construction began Dec. 1 and the Farmers Home Administration loan totals $60,000.

SIGNING — the swimming pool contract at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Filer City Council is Mayor Dan Kauffman. Watching the signing are Bill Drake, right, pool committee chairman, and Lawrence Kidge, committee member.

COMMISSIONERS — The Twin Falls County commissioners have until June 29 to inform the federal government of their planned expenditure of revenue sharing money for the first half of 1973.

The county has about $247,000 to spend from shared revenues from the federal government during that period, of which $123,000 is already deposited in "banks" having interest. The second check is expected in July.

Federal regulations require the filing of a planned use report with authorities by units receiving revenue sharing money.

There are indications the commissioners might want to use the money to install a heating and air conditioning system in the fourth floor county courthouse in Twin Falls.

The commissioners recently completed three days of public hearings called to allow the public to respond to their proposals to spend part of the $12,000 in revenue sharing money it has budgeted for this year.

County officials are in the process of drawing up invitations to bid for the first of three projects, a window replacement and refurbishing program at the courthouse, according to commission chairman William L. Chancey.

EDEN — The pre-school eye examination clinic sponsored by the Hazelton Lions Club will be at Eden Elementary School from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday.

An earlier story in the Times-News erroneously listed the place as Hazelton Grade School and extended the hours to 7 p.m.

GF park opens

GLENN SPERRY — Jerry Hoover, manager of the Three Island Crossing State Park has reported that the park is now open.

He said three people have been employed permanently and three for the summer season at the park.

Family donates book

SHOSHONE — The family of the late Mrs. Emma Decker has donated a book "Snake River Country" to the Shoshone City Library.

Mrs. Marx Nielsen, librarian, said the book contains pictures of the Snake River from its beginning in the Yellowstone National Park in northwest Wyoming through Idaho and Oregon to the Columbia River in Washington.

Rodeo scheduled

LELIER — A regional intercollegiate rodeo is scheduled for the Twin Falls County rodeo grounds, after May 25-26.

Sponsored by the College of Southern Idaho Rodeo Club, the rodeo will include 7:30 p.m. performances both nights, and a 1:30 p.m. family performance May 26 with a discount rate for why two adults attending with six children.

Contestants from 14 Utah and Idaho colleges and universities will compete for qualifying points to the regional finals rodeo at Utah State University, Logan, Utah, during the following week.

Zak Hall will announce rodeo events with Jack Pope serving as arena director. Spur Rowel Rodeo Co. will supply stock.

GF plans gymkhana

GLENN SPERRY — The Three Island Riding Club will hold a gymkhana Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at their arena.

"Musical Chairs," polo, banding, three-barrel races, key hole races, and western pleasure races will be held.

Accident injures Boise man

JEROME — Richard Carl Preston, 48, Boise, was listed in fairly good condition today in St. Benedict's Hospital following a traffic accident Tuesday.

Jerome County sheriff's officers reported Preston was traveling east on Interstate 80, four miles west of Jerome, when his vehicle left the highway on the left side, swerved back onto the roadway after traveling 196 feet, striking an embankment and going 54 feet through the air before coming back to rest on the highway and traveling one-quarter mile before stopping.

Preston, who was believed at first to have suffered a heart attack, was taken to the hospital by ambulance for observation.

Wendell plans public hearing

WENDELL — Wendell School trustees have set May 7 at 8 p.m. as the time for a public hearing on the proposed 1973-74 budget of $587,720.

The budget, tentatively approved by the school board, shows approximately a 15 percent increase over the current year's budget of $508,517. The proposed expenditures by department this year and last year, include: instruction, which covers teacher salaries, $334,393 compared to $271,710 this year. Base salary increases have been increased 10 percent.

Other departments show administration, $29,380 and $25,156; instructional supplies, $20,000 and $19,000; Auxiliary agencies including the bus contract which is entered this year, other travel, $44,400 and $39,512. Operation of school plants is proposed for $45,250 compared to $44,000 for the current year with increases there due to salary raises and higher cost of utilities.

The board budgeted $6,700 for maintenance for the coming year and $6,300 this year. Adult education budget is unchanged at $500 each year and driver education remains at $3,500.

Capital outlay decreased slightly to $12,250 compared to $12,800. The board said debt services will also decline slightly in the coming year.

Wendell plans public hearing

WENDELL — Wendell School trustees have set May 7 at 8 p.m. as the time for a public hearing on the proposed 1973-74 budget of $587,720.

The budget, tentatively approved by the school board, shows approximately a 15 percent increase over the current year's budget of $508,517. The proposed expenditures by department this year and last year, include: instruction, which covers teacher salaries, $334,393 compared to $271,710 this year. Base salary increases have been increased 10 percent.

Other departments show administration, $29,380 and $25,156; instructional supplies, $20,000 and $19,000; Auxiliary agencies including the bus contract which is entered this year, other travel, $44,400 and $39,512. Second appeal filed in road lawsuit

BY DAVID ESPO

Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A second Idaho Supreme Court appeal has been filed in a lawsuit that resulted six weeks ago in the overturning of certain state highway load limits.

At stake in the eventual outcome of the case, according to affidavits on file in the court record, may be the future of Interstate highway construction in the state, a project that has brought $283 million federal dollars into the state and is expected to provide $168 million more.

Papers on file in district court in Twin Falls indicate an appeal by State Commissioner of Law Enforcement John Bender and Superintendent of State Police L. Clark Hand, from the district court ruling that set aside some of the load limits.

Rolling March 12, District Judge James Cunningham declared unconstitutional load limits for most trucks that were lower than the limits for trucks carrying unprocessed agricultural, logging and mining products.

A supreme court appeal has also been filed by the State Board of Highway Directors against Cunningham's ruling that the board could not intervene in the case.

Attorneys in a hastily spearheaded the basic decision could, necessitate a special session of the state legislature. That action, they said, would be necessary because of a federal requirement that the load limits in effect in 1958 must not be exceeded if the state is to receive the highway construction funds for the interstate projects.

But Cunningham agreed several days ago to stay his original decision, in effect enabling the state to lobby to the federal government that the load limits are unchanged because of the court action. His stay order is to remain in effect pending the outcome of the supreme court appeal.

On the basis of the order, according to Deputy Atty. Gen. James W. Blaine, a special legislative session is not necessary.

Blaine said he hoped the high court would hear the case in the fall 1973 term, leaving the legislature next year sufficient time to enact new legislation, if that is necessary, before a certification is needed for the federal government for 1974.

Jerome teachers get 7% pay hike

By CHARLOTTE BELL

Times-News writer

JEROME — Jerome school trustees Tuesday night approved a revised budget which includes a seven per cent raise for the teachers.

The new budget figure was set at $1,138,155 compared to $1,104,270 last year, for an increase of $33,900 or 3.4 per cent.

A public hearing is scheduled for Monday at 8 p.m. on the budget in conjunction with the regular board meeting.

Supt. John Campbell said the district will receive its first quarterly appropriations check in May this year for the 1973-74 school year. By receiving this money earlier, it will allow us to reduce the reserve money safely," Campbell said.

"We were told by the State Department of Education to estimate our anticipated increase in assessed valuation higher than low in figuring dollar needs in order to not lose millage as property valuation increases," Campbell said.

He said new industries, such as Moore Business Forms, are increasing the tax rolls in the county.

Campbell said it is estimated that current assessed valuation in the county is now $15,500,000, the figure used for the proposed budget.

He also said the district expects no Title I funding and the board approved transfer of teachers for the Title I programs to regular instructional status. They include library, music, and elementary physical education teachers.

Trustees earlier this spring had refused to approve a 5 per cent raise for teachers because they said there was not enough money left in the budget for instructional and maintenance provisions.

The new budget now gives $21,270 in this category. It reduces reserves from about $75,000 to $44,482, Campbell said.

TF trustees OK budget without kindergartens

Trustee Day cited figures from unnamed local schools, indicating that most of the children retained in the first grade had attended kindergarten.

This was challenged by Mrs. Culver who asked what kind of kindergarten the children had attended.

"That's the whole point," she said, "to get quality control of the kindergartens by having them as part of the public school system." She said there is now wide discrepancy among the private kindergartens operating locally, some of which she termed "little more than glorified play schools."

Meyer said when Title I funds are received, which will not be until fall, the board will amend the budget.

Other expenditures listed for next year, not previously reported, include:

- Salary of $6,200 for attendance officer which previously was paid for out of Title I funds.
- Purchase of new band uniforms at the high school, estimated to cost between $10,000 to $17,000.
- Purchase of new electric typewriters, boosting the replacement of equipment item for secondary schools from $7,500 last year to $10,500 in the new budget.
- Three teachers for new positions in the secondary schools, one for the lifetime sports program and another for vocational education at the high school and a speech and drama instructor at the junior high level.

Meyer said, of the 272 teachers in the district, 72 are at the top of the pay scale. He said the district will spend $27,000 for increments, in addition to the pay raise.

There are 106 elementary classrooms in the district, with 106 teachers, he said, as proof there presently is no room for kindergarten, but it was indicated that if the proposed building program is approved there will be one room in each elementary school for future kindergarten use.

Meyer did not discuss the League of Women Voters suggestion that the kindergarten program be housed at the former St. Edward's School.

Idaho firemen set annual meet

WENDELL — Southern Idaho Firemen's Association annual meeting is planned for Sunday at the Wendell fire station, 76 South Idaho St.

About 200 firemen from throughout southern Idaho are expected, according to Marvin Thaele, Wendell assistant fire chief who, with his wife, is serving as chairman of arrangements.

Dan Kelley, Shoshone, arson investigator with the Department of Law Enforcement will be the main speaker. Tom Tyre, state fire training officer, Boise State College, also will speak and show a training film.

Registration begins at 9 a.m. Sunday with the business meeting and training session at 10:30 a.m.

The annual banquet is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. at the Wendell Grade School auditorium, with drills and contests planned from 2:30 to 4 p.m.

The association includes firemen from throughout Blaine Valley, the Boise Valley and eastern Idaho.

Blaine truck bids tabled

HAILEY — Bids on a new tandem-axle diesel truck have been tabled for further study by the Blaine County commissioners.

During a meeting Monday, the commissioners opened four bids submitted for the proposed purchase, which will be covered by federal revenue sharing funds.

In other action, the commissioners purchased for $2,450 a wood sawper for the sanitary landfill from Western Equipment Co., Boise.

Requested county extension agent James Eakin and Mary Anderson, Hailey, work together to develop and determine costs for a plan for the courthouse area and for landscaping around the new county jail.

Under discussion was planting new trees between the existing poplars fronting the parking lot, to serve as possible future replacement trees.

Blaine said it would be up to individual county prosecutors to decide whether to proceed with prosecution on load limit cases, and Cassia County Prosecutor Gordon Nielson said he was uncertain about what he would do.

Trainer feels Warbucks can steal derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Trainer Don Combs, who engineered one of the big Kentucky Derby upsets three years ago with Dust Commander, was quietly confident today that he could pull off another one Saturday.

"He may not get there but he'll be running at them at the end," he said of Warbucks, the stretch running colt he is preparing for the 99th running of the Derby.

At least 15 horses are expected to be named for the first of the Triple Crown classics when the entry box closes Thursday with Secretariat favored and Sham a strong second choice.

Not many are paying attention to Warbucks but that doesn't bother Combs.

"He's holding his form well and should come up to the big race in top shape," he said.

"There's really not much left for me to do but try to keep him out of trouble for the rest of the week," the Lexington, Ky., horseman said.

Combs respects Secretariat and Sham, as well as several of the other 3-year-olds in the field, but he is not ready to concede they are better than Warbucks until they prove it.

"Warbucks has a tremendous burst of speed. I guess he can go all out for about five-sixteenths of a mile, maybe for three-eighths. That is all you can expect of any horse. Of course, you try to reserve that burst as long as you can. If they are getting away from you, you have to go after them. If you can't go any longer, fine. It all depends on how a race is run.

"Adjusting to changing conditions is what makes some jockeys better than others. They really know how much horse they have left under them and what the other jocks have left. And I have the jock who can do that. He has the best Derby record of them all," Combs said.

Bill Hartack, who has won five Kentucky Derbys in 10 rides, will handle Warbucks. Hartack is tied with Eddie Aracaro for the riding record but Aracaro was in 21 Derbys. In 1970, Dust Commander won the Blue Grass Stakes 10 days before the Kentucky Derby. Warbucks finished third in the same race.

"Warbucks never had a chance in the Blue Grass Stakes from the head of the stretch on," Combs said. "The field was closely bunched there and they had Warbucks surrounded. He still was sixth at the eighth pole where he finally got loose. You like to think he would have won if he had racing room in the stretch. You always think that. But you know you would have been closer," he said.

Most of the Derby starters here "speed horses" and Combs hopes they burn each other out.

"We don't have to be too far out of it and if we can get close enough for him to use that closing burst we have a chance," he said.

Pan American put on NCAA probation

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The Pan American basketball team was placed on probation for two years Tuesday by the NCAA Council, which also meted out probationary sentences to Livingston (Ala.) and Doane (Nebr.).

Pan American of Edinburg, Tex., was cited for seven violations, ranging from the payment of athletes' expenses during vacation periods to illegal practice sessions.

The NCAA also charged former head coach Sam Williams with arranging for and paying the living expenses of a prospect for a one-month stay in an Edinburg hotel.

During the two-year probation, Pan American will be ineligible for post-season basketball competition or television appearances.

Abe Lemons, former Oklahoma City basketball coach, recently became athletic director and head basketball coach at Pan American, replacing Williams, who was reassigned within the university.

Livingston was placed on probation for an indefinite period, not less than two years, for a second offense.

Course okay for tour play

HOUSTON (UPI) — Bruce Devlin, the defending champion, Tuesday said there had been rumors on the pro tour that the $200,000 Houston Open tournament was going to be canceled.

"I heard in the Tournament of Champions that it might be canceled because the course was in such bad shape," Devlin said.

"The tournament, with one of the top purses on the tour this year, opens Thursday following a pro-am Wednesday at the Quail Valley Country Club.

The rumors began because the course was in poor condition much of last winter, according to John Davis, executive director of the Houston Golf Association which sponsors the tournament.

"Some of the touring pros live in Houston and others have traveled here and played the course, knowing it would be the tournament site," Davis said. "It wasn't in good condition because of the three snows we had last winter and the 27 days of rain we've had this spring

Training for derby

GETTING PUT THROUGH an easy gallop is Warbucks, trained by Don Combs, by exercise rider George Whittington, following a light rain at Churchill Downs on Monday morning. The 99th running of the Derby will be in Louisville, Kentucky on Saturday. (UPI Telephoto)

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Martin J. Wynn's Settecento qualified for a shot at the Kentucky Derby next Saturday when he outgamed heavily favored Mr. Prospector in the stretch at Churchill Downs Tuesday to win the $21,000 Derby Trial Stakes by a length and one-quarter.

Only five horses started in the mile race and all the others were outdistanced in this prep for the first of the Triple Crown classics.

Don Guaranteed was third, six lengths behind Mr. Prospector, with Blue Chip Dan fourth, three lengths farther back. Gold Bag finished last and may have lost a chance to run in the Kentucky Derby.

Settecento and Gold Bag were the only two starters who had been expected to challenge America's top three-year-olds in five days. Settecento, ridden by Larry Adams, apparently qualified for the task. Gold Bag was a disappointment.

Mr. Prospector was a heavy favorite at 3-5 with the crowd of 14,600. The colt got off to a slow start, but once he swung into high gear rapidly picked up his rivals after they had gone a little more than a quarter of a mile. He charged right by them before they reached the start of the final turn and at that point seemed to be headed for an ever-widening victory.

After Mr. Prospector went by him, Adams swung Settecento around the horses ahead of him in hot pursuit. At the start of the home stretch, the grey colt still was a length and a half behind the pacesetter. Under vicious whipping by Adams, Settecento slowly whittled the lead and finally battled his way to the front with a little less than a sixteenth of a mile remaining.

The track was sloppy from day-long showers and the time was slow. The colt got home in 1:37 to pay $7.40 to win and $2.80 to place. There was no show betting. Mr. Prospector, who was using the race as a prep for the Preakness rather than the Kentucky Derby, paid $2.20.

Fifteen other horses were listed as Kentucky Derby starters and 61 of them may run if the track is fast.

Jacksonville hires K-State cage coach

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Bob Gottlieb, who believes "intangibles" win ball games, is the new Jacksonville University coach at Jacksonville University.

Gottlieb announced his acceptance of a two-year contract at a news conference Tuesday with Dr. Robert H. Spiro, the school president.

Gottlieb, an assistant coach at Kansas State, was the second head coach Jacksonville has hired within a week to replace Tom Wasdin.

The university announced last Thursday that Wasdin's successor would be Howie Lambda, head coach of Mercer Community College in Trenton, N.J. But on Monday Lambda said he had thought the offer over on the plane trip back to Trenton and decided to reject it because of the time it would mean away from his family and the loss of his 11-year tenure at Mercer.

Wasdin resigned last month after three years as head coach of the Dolphins to enter private business.

"I know Howie, and I have the greatest respect for him as a man and as a coach," Gottlieb said. "I realize that he was the first choice. I can tell you this, I was tickled pink when I heard he'd changed his mind."

The 33-year-old Gottlieb said he had decided about 10 years ago to make basketball his life's work and had concentrated on learning how to be an "all-around" coach. He said he looked for "intangibles" in his ball players such as the ability to play well under pressure, poise and the desire to give an extra measure of effort when the going gets rough. "These are the kind of things that win ball games," Gottlieb said.

He said his "highest priority" will be getting Jacksonville's juggling recruiting program started. He said he intends to find a replacement for forward Abe Steward, who was drafted by the pros, and a backup to center Dutch Taylor.

Wendell opens quest for third A-3 district crown

MURTAUGH—The Wendell Trojans, blessed with more quality and quantity, are expected to grab another fourth-district A-3 track and field title Thursday and Friday.

The Trojans, paced by seniors Kim Dennis and Alan Stevenson, probably to the tune of six or seven first places, will be seeking their third straight title, last losing to Glens Ferry by a third of a point.

The ironic thing about this year's meet is that every individual track event will have a defending champion. Two of the field champions are back and the triple jump is a new event.

Dennis and Stevenson accounted for about half the defending title things. Dennis won the high jump and, of course, both hurdles, while Stevenson tackled the long jump and the two sprints.

Gooding State's gold dust distance duo of Steve McCalley and John Hunter should take care of everything from a halfmile on up and Alan Schultz, a junior from Castleford, is back in the quartermile. Of these individuals, Dennis is the state high hurdle champion, Schultz the quartermile title king, Hunter the two-mile titlist and McCalley the mile champ.

None of them seems to have much competition in their specialties as like last year most of the races should be pretty much one-man affairs.

Of interest will be the way Coach Yogi Behrens uses Dennis and Stevenson as this will be the first step in a three-week climb for state. Dennis has to be set in the hurdles where he could be a double state champ as easily as not, and the high jump. Stevenson has been anchoring the quartermile relay of late but the times have been rather nebulous in thinking about six points at Boise. Also, he has been down in the long jump this year. Stevenson could go to the state. Then Coach Behrens will have to decide whether he wants his two uses in the 100 or 220-yard dashes. How he goes Thursday could well decide Wendell's fate in the state meet and he hasn't much background on the rest of the state on which to base his decision.

Gooding State will send McCalley and Hunter to the line probably with both in the mile. McCalley in the half and Hunter in the two-mile. That should net the Redskins 22 points the rest of the year.

Gooding State, attempting to better its third place standing last year in district, will have

Russ Hellins as the man to beat in the shotput with the discs being his up-for-grabs at probably a heaviest distance. Hellins will be in the thick of that duel. Saras of Shoshone would loom as the most likely if Hellins should stumble a bit. Schultz turned in a 50.4 once this year but since then has contented himself with winning — largely due to the unbelievable string of bad weather meet days. He'll probably have no real competition in district either but all track buffs are waiting for him to kick loose. He's been saving strength — wisely — for the end of the world mile relay.

The meet will be spread over two days. The preliminaries in all running events will go at 4 p.m. Thursday at the Murtaugh track. The finals will be run in regular sequence starting at 1 p.m. Friday.

The top three in each event will advance to regionals the following week at Nampa with the survivors going to Boise and the state runoffs the week after.

A total of five records could be in trouble if the weather holds. Dennis could well lower the 55.0 high hurdle standard he set last year while McCalley and Hunter will take aim at Dave Gabert's 4:34.3 mile mark. Schultz could rip the 51.0 quartermile record apart and McCalley has run nearly a second under Tom Gornely's 2:01.8 halfmile. Hunter could duplicate Larry Johnson's 10:05.2 two-mile mark although the youngster still is showing effects of a hamstring pull.

Softball clinic set

A clinic for all area softball umpires will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at Harmon Park in Twin Falls, announces District Commissioner Chad Browning.

Sponsored by the Idaho Softball Association, the clinic will be run by Bob Martin and Jim Crumfield of Idaho Falls. All area slow and fast pitch umpires are invited.

Canadiens go 2-up on hurt Hawks

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Chicago Black Hawks are racked with injuries as they head home to meet the Montreal Canadiens in the third game of the Stanley Cup finals today.

The Canadiens won Tuesday night's second game, 4-1, but Chicago coach Billy Reay is still optimistic about his team's chances.

"We can still come back and tie this series," he said. "If I didn't think we could do it I wouldn't be coaching here. I'm going to put three of our Dallas farmhands in the lineup Thursday night."

The Hawks were without defenseman Keith Magnuson, who is out with a broken jaw, and center Stan Mikita, who was dressed Tuesday night but did not see action because of a badly severed finger.

Vern Cournoyer scored twice for Montreal, giving him 11 goals in the current playoffs.

Rubino and Nelson pitch CSI by ISU

POCATELLO — The College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles, behind the route going pitching of freshman Joe Rubino and Kevin Nelson, swept a doubleheader from Idaho State Tuesday afternoon.

Rubino, after dueling through five scoreless innings, won the opener 7-0 on a five-hitter while Nelson put down a little seventh-inning trouble to stanch the high 4-3 on a two-hitter.

It marked the third straight win for CSI over the Bengals, who currently lead the southern division of the Big Sky Conference. CSI has a makeup doubleheader left at Treasure Valley Monday and then will begin playoff action May 11. The Eagles will travel to the home field of the ticks-Most Colo., ICAC playoff May 11 and 12 in a best of three playoff. If successful there, CSI will host the region playoffs, last step before the national junior college world series.

Rubino and loser Jerry Taylor had a good dual going with the Eagles exploded for five runs in the sixth inning of the opener. Rob Leise opened by living on an error and frosh Mike Fries, with his first of two key hits, followed with a single.

Jim Dunsmore lived when his sacrifice bunt resulted in a wild throw and allowed Leise to score. After John Wilson walked, Bob Pawroth played two, with a single and with two away Roy Canan sent two more across with a base hit.

The eagles added two more in the seven when Leise walked and scored when Dunsmore doubled. Dunsmore took third on a wild pitch and scored on Wilson's long fly.

Three on balls gave ISU a 4-0 lead in the first inning but the Eagles came right back with two in the second. With one away, Dunsmore singled and flew around on Darrell Groves' triple. He scooted in on Canan's sacrifice fly.

Three innings later, Dale Lattin, playing for the "ailing" Ralph Hollinger, the team's leading hitter, singled and moved to third while Leise was doubling.

Allen belts two homeruns as Chicago overpoweres Baltimore

CHICAGO (UPI) — Dick Allen blasted two 400-foot plus homers and Ed Herrmann stroked a two-run blast to lift the Chicago White Sox to a 6-5 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles Tuesday night for their fifth consecutive triumph.

Allen, collecting his season's fourth and fifth homers, hit a 450-foot shot onto the roof of White Sox Park in the opening inning off loser Mike Cella, now 1-1.

Brooks Robinson got the run back for the Orioles in the second when he clubbed an Eddie Fisher knuckleball for his third homer of the season.

Allen, leading off the fourth inning, socked a 425-foot blast into what used to be the centerfield bullpen before it was moved along the foul lines. Ken Henderson singled with one out and then Herrmann drove his second homer of the year into the rightfield stands.

Balance of Nature
 THE FOODS AMERICA HAS BEEN ASKING FOR
 Today, people are increasingly asking for natural foods... those foods that are in their original nutritious state or as close to it as possible... Why? Because many people are aware of the effects of pesticides and more than 2,000 chemical additives used for such things as preserving, coloring and artificially coloring various modern processed and refined foods. Did you know that each of us consumes an average of about 5 pounds of these additives annually? In short, it seems that most everyone is concerned about food purity and nutrition content, and that's why natural, high-nutrition foods are selling so well today. "Natural" best describes Balance of Nature foods because they contain no chemical additives, artificial sweeteners, colorings or synthetic preservatives.

Horoscope

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAY 3, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Avoid getting stirred up about a property matter today, otherwise a bitter argument is possible. Analyze where you stand financially—and think of the most practical ways to overcome handicaps. Don't consult experts at this time.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Although you may feel a financial lack, take no chances with unwise investments. Stick to the accepted methods and all works out fine. Do nothing unwise emotionally. Relax tonight!

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Don't get into an argument with one you think is deterring you from gaining personal aims, since you could be in error. A day to exercise much self-control. Stop being so demanding with others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Although you feel imposed upon, don't get into arguments or matters could get worse. Being alert to conditions around you could prevent an unfortunate happening. Take it easy tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Steer clear of those friends who don't see eye to eye with one another, or you could get caught in the middle of an unpleasant situation. Don't become involved in an argument.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Take no risks where your good name is concerned and take no chances with debating in public. Political involvement is not good now, since others are arguing too much. Engage in your hobby.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Study new thoughts and ideas that are progressive, but don't give up present methods. Study every angle for possible use in the future. Avoid one who goes on too much. Be calm.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Not a good day to talk over monetary affairs with others, but tomorrow is fine. Avoid the possibility of getting into arguments. Come to a better understanding with male in the evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Although an associate is difficult, don't lose your temper or there could be added trouble. Get those promises of a public nature handled properly. Do nothing that could hurt others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): You find that some co-workers are not in a good mood, but don't upbraid them. Try not to work so hard that your health is endangered. Be moderate in all that you do today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): You can have fun but it is important that you stay within your budget or you could regret it later. Your mate is in a bad mood, so try to be more cooperative. Think constructively.

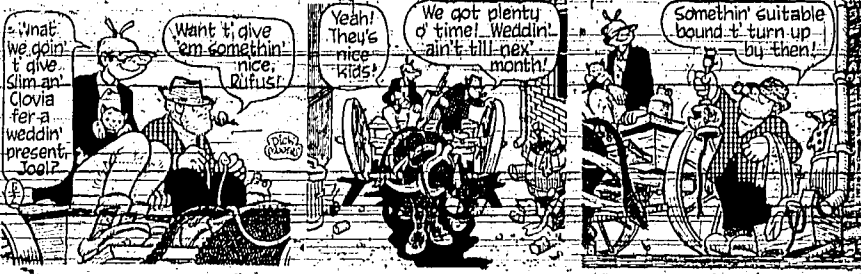

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 19): Try not to do anything that could upset others at home or there could be a big argument there. A social affair should be postponed until a better time. Do some studying tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Much care in motion is important or you could get into trouble. Think before you speak. Show that you are peaceful and gentle with others. Avoid one who is a terrible pest.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who likes to argue. At an early age teach to work with hands and read more so this excessive energy is properly channelled. Self-discipline should be taught early, or your youngster could go off on tangents that could lead to trouble. Give as much religious training as you can. Sports will be helpful.

"How big was the world's biggest banana split?" inquires a customer. Just 260 feet long, the one-Banana-entrepeneur in Honolulu put it together in the recent past. With 5,000 scoops of ice-cream, 800 bananas, 15 gallons of whipped cream, cherries and chopped nuts. Its dish was a rain gutter lined with waxed paper.

Why I don't know, but the 4,000 glands in your ears tend to produce more wax when you get scared, medical researchers say.

No secretary in the employ of a Taurus boss (April 20 - May 20) should remain unaware of the star-gazer's claim that such men pretend to be tough, but wilt when they see a girl cry.

Odor of smoke works as an insect repellent, that's known. So fishermen say it's a good notion to hang their clothes in the smoke of their campfires, whenever possible. Deer hunters do it, too. That smoke odor masks the man smell.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS

Q. "Do the laws of any states permit acts of homosexuality between consenting adults?"

A. Only Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Oregon and Hawaii, so far as I know, Denmark legalized such back in 1930. Sweden, in 1944. West Germany, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Luxembourg and Italy have done so, too. Likewise, Great Britain, in 1967.

Q. "At what age is the Persian lamb slaughtered for its curly coat?"

A. Three days.

Q. "Is it true President Grover Cleveland had an artificial jaw?"

Partly artificial, anyway. He underwent surgery for a malignancy in his jaw aboard a yacht during his presidency. But the public wasn't apprised of that fascinating fact until 24 years after his death.

EXOTIC ANIMALS

You know those exotic animals shipped into this country from Africa, South America, tropical places elsewhere? Only about one in 10 survive the trip, bar, claims an investigator. Freight charges are based on cubic footage. Dealers therefore jam-pack their beasts into little space. And they stop far more than their orders require, knowing most won't survive. Merciless.

The three B's are what the fashion experts look for in their costume models, according to one of same named, Candy Jones, Beauty, Brains And Breeding.

Maybe you didn't know the first elephants were only about as big as pigs. And they had no trunks.

Common houseflies run about 20,000 to the pound, please note.
